About the CoE

The University recognises the importance and benefits of carrying out research activities, and thus formation of CoE is a platform to plan and discuss research topics. CoE does not imply a physical set-up, it can be functional and strategic team, a shared facility that provides leadership, best practices, support and/or training in the focus area. CoE if runs well, will drive the University to remain competitive in the various fields of research, expertise and services at the national and international levels.

Objectives of the CoE

- Encourages shared learning through niche focus areas, services and research activities including research training and grants within the University
- Promotes inter-departmental or inter-varsity collaborations, and by using the best practice around a specific focus area to drive valued results in the research or service area
