

Schools & Colleges

College of Education for the Future

Release date:2020-09-30

Share:

Based on its "three steps" strategic framework, BNU accelerates carrying out the spirit of the 2018 National Conference on Education, promoting the modernization of education to serve educational development needed in the Midwest of China and the purpose of building "Double First-Class University" under the principle of "One University, Two Campuses." Beijing Normal University at Zhuhai is dedicated to becoming the "Whampoa Military Academy" of elementary and secondary teachers, leading reform and development of teacher education, and implementing future-oriented outstanding teacher training. These methods will bring out a batch of outstanding future teachers with high educational ideals and spirits, continuous learning interest, and motivation. In May 2019, College of Education for the Future was established as an institutional teaching and research institute based in the Zhuhai Campus. College of Education for the Future undertakes the teaching of undergraduates and postgraduates, cultivating outstanding teachers and top-notch innovative talents. The college has a strong faculty with distinct training characteristics. In 2019, it recruited 576 undergraduates categorized into science experimental class, physics class, humanities experimental class, history class, and physical education class. Students need to receive core course