Background

Malang International Conference on Medical and Health Science (MICROMEDHS) is an international seminar organized by the Faculty of Medicine, Universitas Negeri Malang. MICROMEDHS aims to be a forum for academics, researchers, practitioners and policy makers in the medical and health fields to share knowledge, experiences and the latest research, especially a holistic approach to improving health.

In this era of globalization, science and technology are developing rapidly. The medical and health sector is no exception. Various new diseases appear, and old diseases that have been overcome reappear with new resistance. The increasingly sedentary lifestyle of modern society has become a major global health concern. This has an impact on the increase in non-communicable diseases such as obesity, diabetes and coronary heart disease. A holistic approach has been proven to be effective in treating various health problems. This approach views health as a balance between physical, mental, social and spiritual aspects. A holistic approach emphasizes the importance of prevention and health promotion, as well as considering social, economic and environmental factors to improve public health. Therefore, an international forum is needed to discuss various current issues in the medical and health fields.

MICROMEDHS theme is “Optimizing Health Through Holistic Approach: Innovation, Challenges, Collaboration, And Impact”. This conference will be held online on September 14th 2024. Furthermore, we will also hold workshops offline on September 15th 2024. This workshop is designed to provide knowledge and practical skills on kinesiotape, baby massage, and sport massage. Through this event, it is hoped that networking and synergy will be established between educational institutions, research and practitioners to optimizing health. MICROMEDHS 2024 will not only provide benefits for academics and practitioners, but is also expected to increase public awareness of the importance of holistic approach for health.

Objective

With the theme, the conference is expected to become a strategic platform to discuss several issues, such as the latest innovations in the diagnosis, prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of a disease; the latest innovations in holistic approach to health; the challenges faced in implementing a holistic approach; the importance of collaboration between stakeholders and health workers in the health sector; and the impact of a holistic approach on public health.
