

P2P

PEOPLE TO PEOPLE
RELATIONSHIPS

Virtual Public Lecture Series in Engineering

SERIES

2 out of 10

Dr. Julius
Marpaung

TOPIC:

GETTING INTO ENGINEERING GRAD SCHOOL IN USA & THE IMPORTANCE OF CO-OPS IN ENGINEERING CAREERS

*Targeted participant: Final Undergraduate students, Master students, and Lecturers
Language of instruction: English*

Saturday, 3 October 2020
08.00 - 10.00 WIB

Benefits: e-Certificate*, international exposure, win attractive prizes

Dr. Yustianto
Tjiptowidjojo

Northeastern University,
Boston, USA

Short Bio

Dr. Julius Marpaung (aka. Dr. J), is an Associate Teaching Professor of the Electrical & Computer Engineering (EECE) Department at Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts, USA. His research interests include computer architecture, robotics, and digital logic design. Dr. Yustianto Tjiptowidjojo is an assistant Teaching Professor of the Mechanical and Industrial Engineering Department at Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts, USA.

Dr. Julius is currently the Faculty Ambassador for the College of Engineering (COE) at Northeastern University. As of August 29, 2020, he has successfully recruited 7 LPDP-BIT students to pursue their master's degree and 5 lecturers to pursue their PhD degree in the College of Engineering at Northeastern University.

Live on:

Zoom (up to 500 participants)

ITS International Office

*Note, e-Certificate will be given to participants who fill in pre survey (08.00 - 08.30 WIB sharp) & post survey (20.00 - 23.59 WIB)

Students, lecturers, and researchers from MOPPT university members could register as Zoom participants by contacting person in charge of each university at:

info@daftarpicptn/

Detailed information about schedule, competition, and registration could be checked at:

www.its.ac.id/international/p2pvp/